

Have you ever wondered that no matter how eager you are in your process of manifestation, over and over rethinking your dream, visualizing with a stopwatch every bit of your imaginary, and so on and so one... You are still probably unhappy with result, because... you don't actually see it manifested around you after so many weeks or months or even years... "What is wrong?" - you ask yourself a million times...

Well accept that thinking about your dream everyday, worrying about it and visualizing it without any emotions, but for the mark in your calendar, that you did it for today, all of this will never let Universe to manifest your dream! Why? Because your thought is unable to leave the space around your head and fly freely to meet with the Universe, so to be heard.

Remember all those miracle stories that contain these words: "I've forgotten about my dream for few weeks/months/years, and suddenly I received what I wanted".

Should I quote The Law of Attraction?

1. Ask

2. Believe

3. Receive

You asked? Yes you did. It is enough to close your eyes, imagine sketches (not perfect idealistic pictures), say the thought like: "I believe that I have (insert your dream here) it in my life now. So be it". That's all! You told yourself that you believe, that is for second part of the Law. You made your choice, you activated it and now just send it off to the Universe. And do your daily things like usual, don't worry the worries like: "Hmm... How is the Universe, is she alright? Maybe I should do something? Should I do something? Well well well..." and continue to throw yourself into every deal like an opportunity. You need to believe that you will never miss that turning point, because you asked for it. And forget it. Yes, just forget about it.

There will be that third part, those incredible moments of receiving it, without dates. The moment of manifestation couldn't be the most emotional without being surprising. Surprise can happen only if you don't know, you've forgotten for a period of time about your dream, and now you get it.

It is yours now! The moment of happiness, that highest emotional energy that comes from the Infinite Source, the feeling of abundance in this illusionary limited world of ours, no matter how long will your happiness last - this moment is your surfboard for a greater ride in your life...
